War Vets Resent Alleged Attack On State Guard

Statements Of Lieutenant Governor Reflect Upon Honored Dead, Resolution Says

NOT FIT TO HOLD OFFICE

Villas Whaley, Racine, Elected Commander Of Wisconsin Department

By Associated Press
Superior—The Wisconsin department of the American Legion in convention here Friday declared in a resolution adopted that it considered Lieutenant Governor George F. Comings "unfit to hold a public office." The legion's resolution was based upon alleged public utterances by Comings "relative to the national guard, which were insulting and untrue and reflecting upon our honored dead and unbecoming a person in his position."

ELECT COMMANDER
Final business sessions of the fifth annual convention of the Wisconsin Department, American Legion, and of the third annual convention of the ladies auxiliary were held here Friday, with election of officers and selection of the next meeting place as the most important business of the convention.

The new executive committee of the organizations met immediately following the adjournment.

Villas Whaley, Racine, Wis., was elected commander of the Wisconsin department of the American Legion by a unanimous vote in his favor at the final session of the annual convention here Friday morning.

LeBaron Harper, Superior, Dr. Wm. F. Lorenz, Madison, and Dr. E. G. Carey, Reedsville, were elected vice commanders of the Wisconsin legion department.

The Reverend Wm. E. Berger, Beaver Dam, received a unanimous vote for chaplain. John Burkhardt, Monroe, and Louis Larson, Whitehall, were elected masters at arms.

Chippewa Falls was chosen as scene of 1924 convention of the American legion in Wisconsin at the closing session of the convention here Friday.

GERMANY MUST PAY FOR KIEL DELAY, COURT SAYS
The Hague—The permanent court of international justice Friday handed down a decision against Germany in the case involving the use of the Kiel canal by foreign vessels. The court decided the German authorities were not justified in preventing the British steamer Wimbledon from entering the canal in 1921 during the hostilities between Poland and Russia and that Germany would make compensation.

It seems only fair to express appreciation for the wonderful pulling power of want-ads in the columns of your paper. Some little time ago I had occasion to use the Milwaukee Journal last week I ran an almost identical ad in the Post-Crescent, and also the cost was less than the other. I obtained several times the results from the wanted in your paper, than I did as a result of inserting almost identical the same ad in the Milwaukee paper.

Better still, I sold my machine almost immediately as the result of the insertion in your paper, which I had been unsuccessful in doing after several insertions in Milwaukee.

To me it proves that your paper is read, and thoroughly read, by a discerning class of people, who evidently appreciate a good newspaper in the community.

Very truly yours,
S. B. Carr

New Catholic Parish To Be Started Here

Property is Purchased in Sixth Ward for Church and Religious Buildings

A new Catholic parish is to be established in the Sixth ward. Rumors to this effect have been in circulation for some time, but no definite announcement was made until Thursday when the deeds of the property acquired were recorded with the register of deeds.

The property selected is on Second-ave between Morrison and Durkeets and was purchased by the Green Bay diocese from R. O. Jennerjahn, R. C. Breitung, William J. Stelner and Ferdinand Koletzke.

It is understood the territory to be included in the parish will include the Sixth ward and a portion of the First and Fifth wards. Just how soon the church will be erected is not known. While there is no definite information at hand it is said the other buildings will include a school, parsonage and home for sisters.

The new parish will relieve the congested conditions at St. Joseph and St. Mary churches and will accommodate a large number of families located in that part of the city.

SLAYER OF SHERIFF KILLED IN ST. PAUL

Police, Greeted By Shots On Opening Door, Return Fatal Fusillade

By Associated Press
St. Paul—Edwin Rust, slayer of Sheriff I. C. Fulkner of Aberdeen, S. D., was shot to death in a gun fight with St. Paul detectives here early Friday when they sought to arrest him.

Rust had been arrested by the detectives who were unaware of his identity when he drove up to a garage, accompanied by a woman in a stolen automobile. Enroute to the police station, Rust handcuffed, sprang from the automobile and fled into an alley. He removed the handcuffs in some manner not known.

Meanwhile the woman was questioned and from her was learned Rust's identity. Several detectives went to the residence where Rust had been living since Aug. 1, under the name of Peter Thorson.

As the two detectives pushed open the door of Rust's room they were met by two shots both of which went wild. In the answering fusillade, Rust was struck in the neck, the chest and the hip. He died almost instantly.

A reward of $500 dead or alive had been offered for Rust's capture. He slew the sheriff while being taken on a train to Aberdeen, S. D., to face a robbery charge, and then jumped from the train, escaping.

East Grand Forks, Minn.—L. Rust, father of Edwin Rust who was killed in a gun fight with St. Paul police Friday wired St. Paul authorities asking that the body of his son be returned here for burial.

MICHIGAN MAY JOIN CHICAGO DRAINAGE SUIT

Attorney General Daugherty Confers With Ekern On Action to be Taken

By Associated Press
Madison—Attorney General Andrew Daugherty of Michigan and Herman Ekern, attorney general of Wisconsin, conferred informally Thursday on the action to be taken by the two states in the suit against the Chicago drainage district.

The state of Wisconsin now has litigation pending, and the conference was preliminary to a final decision as to what action the state of Michigan will take.

Michigan, General Daugherty intimated, will bring suit on the same grounds as the state of Wisconsin, basing it on the damage caused by the lowering of the water levels of Lake Michigan. Whether this suit will be in conjunction with the Wisconsin suit, or started independently and later joined remains to be seen.

A meeting of the attorney generals of the States of Minnesota, Michigan, Indiana, and Wisconsin is to be held later, and at that time a definite decision will be made general, Ekern said.

BLAST IN OIL TANK SHAKES SAN PEDRO

By Associated Press
San Pedro, Calif.—A large underground oil tank, owned by the General Petroleum company exploded here at 9:25 o'clock Friday morning. The blast was caused by spontaneous combustion and shook the entire city.

Approximately one million barrels of oil is burning.

Los Angeles, Calif.—Two companies of fire fighting equipment have been rushed to San Pedro to protect that district while the harbor department fights the oil tank blaze. Other equipment held here is being held in readiness, subject to an emergency call to the blaze.

RACINE SOCIETY WOMAN POISONED, DOCTORS SAY
Racine—A post mortem examination on the body of Mrs. Ida J. Elliott, prominent society lady, who died at a hospital early Friday disclosed that death was due to poisoning, according to the physicians who conducted the examination. The doctors indicated they could not determine whether an overdose of aspirin had caused death or whether the woman had taken some other drug.

TWIN CITIES WILL HAVE LARGE ICE CAR PLANTS
St. Paul—A large refrigerator car building and repair plant which will result in centralizing in the Twin Cities the largest supply of express refrigerator cars in the history of the territory, will be built in St. Paul or Minneapolis, it was disclosed Friday.

Preliminary plans for the establishment of the shops have been developed and construction work will be started soon, it was stated.

KLAN DEMANDS HEADS OF CITY RESIGN POSTS

Steubenville K. K. K. Charges Attacks Due To Laxity Of Municipal Officials

By Associated Press
Steubenville, O.—Barred from holding a meeting here, following the anti-Ku Klux Klan rioting Wednesday, in which four men were wounded in a gun battle, approximately 1,000 members of the Klan met at Richmond, 12 miles west of here late Thursday night, police said Friday morning.

Authorities said they did not know what transpired at the meeting as the Klan posted $1,000 bonds each for the release of eight members of an armed party which came from East-Liverpool by automobile early Thursday morning. They supposed the rioting incident was discussed. The East-Liverpool men were armed when arrested by Sheriff Edward Lucas and were held as suspicious characters.

Mayor Hawkins Thursday evening ordered police to prevent public demonstrations of any kind, the ban extending to even small gatherings on the streets. Precautions against another outbreak will be continued.

BULLET IN BRAIN
Darwin L. Gibson, 35, local Klan leader, who is in a local hospital with a bullet in the base of his brain, is expected to recover, it was said Friday.

Frank Veltry is being held at the county jail, charged with shooting with intent to kill Gibson. John DeSantis, said to have been one of Gibson's assailants who was shot through the left eye, is in a critical condition at a hospital.

Mosca Spinetti, 26, said to be another member of the attacking party and who was shot in the left wrist was removed to the hospital from the county jail Thursday night. A fourth man whose wound in the chest was treated by a physician Thursday is being sought. Gibson declares he was driving to his home when he was fired upon. Returning from the fire, he said he wounded four of his attackers.

In a statement, one local Klan demanded the resignation of Mayor Hawkins and Chief of Police Carter, declaring the Wednesday night disorder was the result of lax law enforcement. The Klan has been active in the territory in the prosecution of law enforcement in recent months.

2 NAVAL TREATIES EFFECTIVE TODAY

Five Power Agreement and Pacific Pact Of Washington Arms Conclude In Force

By Associated Press
Washington—The naval limitation treaty and the four power pact negotiated at the Washington arms conference finally became effective Friday when representatives of all signatory powers gathered at the state department and formally exchanged ratifications.

The actual scrapping of first line ships under the naval treaty will begin immediately and by the terms of the four power pact the Anglo-Japanese alliance is terminated automatically by Friday's deposit of ratifications.

Washington—Two treaties negotiated at the Washington arms conference—the five power naval limitation agreement and the four power Pacific pact—became effective Friday.

Italy is a party to the treaty providing for the scrapping of warships but not to the Pacific agreement, which automatically terminates the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The four power Pacific treaty was concluded here Dec. 13, 1921, the naval pact Feb. 6, 1922. Deposit of ratifications was necessary before either could go into effect.

DAVIS REPLIES TO ATTACK OF BRITONS

Washington, D. C.—Replying to the latest British attack on conditions at the immigration station at Ellis island, Secretary of Labor Davis declared Friday that "the immigrants themselves were responsible for most of the troubles complained of."

This fact, he said, was perfectly apparent from the report of Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, recently submitted at London.

New Secretary

Campbell Bascom Slomp, 63, of Big Stone Gap, Va., Republican state chairman and former congressman, has been named as secretary to the president, succeeding George B. Christian.

HUGHES CLEARS LONDON DOUBTS ON REPARATION

Untrue Reports of New Note From State Department Quashed By Cable

Washington, D. C.—To clear away any misunderstanding in London regarding the attitude of the Coolidge administration on reparations, Secretary Hughes has cabled to the American embassy there the substance of the story carried from Washington by the Associated Press on Aug. 15, with a notification that the declarations it contained represented the precise position of the United States government.

This disclosure was made Friday as a result of the wide publication of untrue reports that the state department had sent to foreign governments through the American embassies abroad, a new note on reparations. The informative message to the embassy in London is the only communication on reparations sent abroad by the department.

QUELLS HOPE IN LONDON
London—Acting upon cable advice from Secretary Hughes the American embassy officials in London have made it clear to the British foreign office that the United States contemplated no departure from its attitude on reparations as taken before President Harding's death and as announced by Secretary Hughes in his New Haven speech.

This disposes of any hope on this side that President Coolidge's accession to office might result in a more active interest by the United States in Europe's problems.

The reiteration of America's policy was conveyed verbally and informally to the British government.

DENVER DOWNPOUR FLOODS LOWLANDS

Hundreds Forced To Flee From Homes as Platte River Overflows

Denver, Col.—Inundations of the lowlands along the Platte river at suburbs adjoining Denver on the south, Thursday night, following a cloudburst in Platte canyon, forced hundreds of residents to flee from their homes, interrupted telephone communication washed out the approach to at least one bridge, and for a time caused a flood panic in the river bottomlands in the heart of Denver.

The waters subsided shortly after midnight and aside from debris littered banks and in some instances, flooded basements and impassable roads, there were few evidences of the high waters early Friday. No loss of life was reported.

BOY FALLS OFF BRIDGE WHILE FISHING; DROWNS

Wausau—Daniel Hewitt, aged twelve, fell from a bridge into the Wisconsin river while fishing Friday forenoon and was drowned. The body was recovered forty minutes later but efforts at resuscitation failed.

Leader Of Operators Meets Union Chief In Final Try For Peace

SUN YAT SEN MAY LOOSE LARGE PART OF TROOPS

Amoy, China—The Town of Tongan, 20 miles northeast of Amoy, has been captured by northern troops moving south from Foochow. In an interview Thursday, General Tse-Ping, chief of staff of Sun Yat Sen's eastern army, and in command of Amoy, intimated the possibility of an alliance between his forces and the Foo Chow troops which, if he is correctly reported, indicates an important impending defection from Sun's organization.

IRON WORKERS DEMAND LESS WORK OR MORE PAY

By Associated Press
Youngstown, O.—The pipe mill of the Republic Iron and Steel company was virtually idle Friday as the result of a walkout of men who work ten hours a day and who, with the inauguration of the eight hour day in other departments, want either an increase of pay for a ten hour day or a reduction of the work day to eight hours.

U. S. Commissioner Calls S. D. Warriner and John L. Lewis to Conference

OPERATORS YIELD POINTS
Prospect For Immediate Shutdown of Mines Said to be Imminent

By Associated Press
New York—In a final effort to maintain peace in the anthracite coal fields after Sept. 1, the United States coal commission Friday called before it S. D. Warriner, leader of the operators, and John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America for a face to face conference. They will report by 8 P. M. with answers to questions asked by the commission.

Officials of the Miners' union and representatives of mine operators in the anthracite region assembled Friday to give their last words to the United States coal commission in the industrial controversy which is threatening to bring about stopping of anthracite coal production Sept. 1. Prolonged meetings during the past two days are to be brought to a head at meetings between the federal agency and the leaders on both sides.

SOLID OPPOSITION
Despairing in the attempt to iron out the technical disputes concerning the "check off" system for collecting union dues and recognition of the union, the commission has sounded out both parties as to their attitude toward an agreement to suspend hostilities on Sept. 1, keep the mines running, and continue wage contract negotiations with arbitration, of which all disputed points. The operators were said to be ready to go some distance with the plan; but John L. Lewis, president of the union and his associate officers were understood to be in solid opposition.

At Friday's meeting, the commission prepared to demand clearing of the atmosphere. With prospects for agreement lessening momentarily, the commission was said to have no other recourse than to wind up the conferences, and report their findings to President Coolidge.

SHUTDOWN IMMINENT
All observers conceded this would leave imminent the prospect of a complete shutdown of anthracite mining Sept. 1.

In a statement Friday, Mr. Lewis said the operators had destroyed the miners' hope for a resumption of negotiations. He charged that the miners' proposition had been misrepresented to confuse the issue.

"There was nothing in the miners' proposal except the checkoff and the operators know that fact definitely," he said. "The miners did not offer to abandon number one. They only offered to waive the 'checkoff' feature of that demand. The operators undertook to read into the miners' proposition matters that were not there."

"We earnestly hope that a suspension may be averted. We have offered a plan by which this may be accomplished. But it is evident that the operators are not at all anxious to avoid a suspension."

ATTORNEYS TRY TO QUASH ARNOLD CASE

By Associated Press
Superior—Immediately upon opening of court Friday morning, counsel for Victor H. Arnold, on trial in federal district court here charged with using the mails in a scheme to defraud, submitted alternative motions asking for quashing of the indictment, or for dismissal of 17 separate counts.

The motion to quash the entire indictment was denied, without argument. The motion to quash counts 4 and 5 to 14 inclusive, because the "person" alleged defrauded therein was not defined, also was denied. Joseph Lawler of defense counsel, objected to this decision of Judge C. Z. Luse and took an exception.

Count 31, the last count, was quashed when District Attorney Wm. H. Dougherty admitted it was not complete in itself and that the government had been unable to discover authority for it.

Argument then began upon counts 23 to 26 inclusive which concern the alleged scheme to secure stock of the company.

Coolidge Studies Harding Policies To Avoid Conflicts

BLUE SKY LAWS NO PROTECTION, DENNISON SAYS

Illinois Congressman Promises To Seek Legislation To Prevent Fraud

By Associated Press
Madison—E. E. Dennison, representative in congress from Illinois and sponsor of the Dennison bill, aimed at the federal control of sales of securities, was the speaker of the morning session at the National association of securities commissioners Friday morning.

He commended the support of securities commissioners in obtaining federal legislation, declaring that the states which have blue sky laws cannot protect themselves so long as telephones and the mails permit sales of undesirable stocks in their states.

"The commission situation reminds me of a building I once saw," he said, "where the front windows were strongly barred, but the back windows were not. Your state legislation may help, but it cannot stop the sale of worthless securities entirely."

INTRODUCE BILL
"I am going to introduce a bill at the next session of congress, which if passed, will stop at least part of the losses resulting to the public year after year through the sale of fraudulent and worthless securities."

The state laws only partly meet the situation, and proper federal jurisdiction will be the most effective protection. Among other things, this legislation will place all salesmen on the same basis, and none will have an advantage over others as is now the case, when salesmen for companies whose stock has not met our requirement, sell that stock in the state over the telephone and through the mails."

Election of officers was held Friday afternoon.

MOTORISTS FAVOR FEDERAL GAS PROBE

National Association Urges Adherence to Law of Supply and Demand

By Associated Press
Washington—Federal investigation of the gasoline situation with parties to the law of supply and demand was recommended Friday by the National Motorists association which has just completed a survey of the industry.

The report points out the need of government protection of the industry but declares it would be unwise for the government to enter into competition with established concerns in the sale of gasoline.

Adherence to the law of supply and demand in connection with gasoline prices is advocated.

New President Shows Himself Sympathetic Listener In Investigating Program of Predecessor in Office

By Associated Press
Washington—Having pledged to the American people that he would carry out the Harding policies, President Coolidge has set about to find out just what those policies are. In the last two days, the new president has had many conferences and invariably he has asked his callers to give him the benefit of their recollection of conversations with Mr. Harding and intimate consultations extending over the last two and a half years.

Mr. Coolidge has revealed himself as a sympathetic listener. At no time has he indicated that he disapproved of what was done, but he is scrupulously trying to find out just what were the circumstances that led Mr. Harding to make the decisions of policy which he made. Cabinet meetings probably did not disclose 50 per cent of the Harding administration policies. Day in and day out Mr. Harding's engagement list was full and it is no exaggeration to say that much of the business of his administration was orally done. There wasn't always time to make a record for important matters.

The president today is like a student at a new school. He must get acquainted with his fellow students and at the same time dig into the curriculum of studies. While Mr. Harding did have the vice president at the cabinet table, Mr. Coolidge found himself, on taking office, unfamiliar with much of the routine of the government in which in the past he had only an advisory interest but which now becomes his personal and official responsibility.

Mr. Coolidge has been careful not to foreclose himself against changes in the Harding policies. He has simply let it be known that in general he will carry them forward and that the changes he will make are of a character which Mr. Harding himself might have made if he had lived.

RESERVES RIGHT TO AMEND
But that's the nub of the political aspect of Mr. Coolidge's assumption of the presidency. While Mr. Harding was rapidly gaining in political strength, he did have considerable opposition. Mr. Coolidge would like, naturally, to inherit all the assets of Mr. Harding's administration with none of the liabilities. What his statement, therefore, means is that all the Harding policies that he believes are to the best interest of the people and which will help to insure a continuance in power of the Republican party in power 1924 will be faithfully executed but that the new executive reserves the right to modify or amend the Harding administration's acts or pledges whenever it shall be to the best interests of the country to have them amended.

No formal or official announcement is needed from President Coolidge to establish the fact that he is desirous of earning a second term. He would be a strange human if he didn't. There would be little stimulus to his daily work if he were indifferent to the second term idea. But Mr. Coolidge feels already the restraint of the presidency which keeps the man in the White House from actively seeking a nomination for himself. The new president, however, is in a somewhat different position from anyone who has occupied the office before. He took the oath on the eve of a presidential campaign. He has only

Mills

A judgment of $51,058.35, the largest in many months, was granted by Judge Edgar V. Werner in circuit court Thursday in favor of Mrs. Katherine K. Willy, Mrs. Louise Galpin and Francis S. Bradford against A. L. Nichols and the Appleton Cereal Mills, formerly The Willy company. That sum represents the $50,000 principal and accrued interest claimed by the plaintiffs on three separate notes and mortgages which matured since Feb. 21, 1921. Interest at the rate of 6 per cent was agreed upon by the parties. Failure of the defendants to keep up the agreements prompted the plaintiffs to exercise the option given them by the mortgage. The judgment also includes $250 for collector's fees.

3 CARS DAMAGED IN MENASHA-RO WRECK

Three automobiles were damaged in a collision on the Menasha-rd, south of Oneida's corners, between 7 and 8 o'clock Thursday night. According to stories by witnesses, Frank Grupe, Railroad-st, Menasha, driving a Chevrolet toward Appleton, was passing a new Nash driven by a young woman whom I. E. Maxwell, manager of the Tri-City Nash Co., Appleton was teaching to drive, when the cars ran together. The Grupe car was thrown against a Peerless car owned by F. G. Lake of Menasha, but driven by his daughter, Mrs. Rumsey, who was closely following the Nash machine. All three cars were damaged but Mr. Grupe's Chevrolet most seriously. None of the occupants was injured.

GERMAN PRIEST: ON TRIP AROUND GLOBE, STOPS HERE

Dr. John Aufhauser of Munich University Visits Former Classmates

The Rev. Dr. John Aufhauser, professor of history, comparative religions at the University of Munich, Germany, was in Appleton Thursday with the Rev. Paul E. Herb of Stockbridge, for a few hours before going to Bear Creek to visit the Rev. Conrad Ripp. Father Herb and Father Ripp were classmates of Dr. Aufhauser at Innsbruck university in the Tyrol.

Dr. Aufhauser is returning home from a trip around the world after visiting missions in many countries. He left Germany last October, going to Africa. He arrived in Egypt two days after the discovery of King Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb and visited the excavation. From Egypt he went to India, China, Japan, the Philippines, Java and other islands in the Pacific. He arrived at Vancouver, B. C., on July 3 and has been traveling toward the east since that time. Dr. Aufhauser came to Appleton from South Bend, Ind., where he attended a "mission crusade" at Notre Dame university.

After a brief visit in Milwaukee, Dr. Aufhauser will go to New York where he will sail for Germany.

Father Enraged When Son Is Tattooed At Carnival

The tattooing of the arm of his 14-year-old son without his permission has so stirred a West College-ave business man that he is considering starting action against the carnival company that visited Appleton last month. The reason he has not already done so is the fact he is engaged in business and has many friends among members of the Loyola Order of Moose under whose auspices the shows were brought to Appleton.

The agitated parent, who has taken the matter up with the chamber of commerce and several individuals, said Wednesday he certainly would have caused the arrest of the individual responsible for the condition of his son's arm had he known it before the carnival left the city. Fearing he might take exception to what he had done the boy did not confide in his father until several days later.

According to the story told by the boy who did not realize the seriousness of what he was about, he and his chum dared each other while visiting the carnival to have their arms decorated. The father said he holds himself responsible for the welfare and appearance of his son and if he had been disfigured with a birthmark he would have spent any sum of money to have it removed. He intends to have the present disfigurement remedied if possible.

Since the incident occurred the business man is bitter against carnivals which he said the city authorities should not permit to visit the city.

PACIFIC COAST HOLSTEIN HOLDS THREE YEAR RECORD

The only cow in the world to make three yearly records of more than 30,000 pounds of milk and 1,000 pounds of butterfat each year is Adirondac Wietse Dairy Maid, an official announcement received from the advanced registry office of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, states.

At the age of 10 years this cow, a purebred Holstein, completed a yearly semi-official record of 31,580.9 pounds of milk containing 1,014.47 pounds of butterfat.

Her total three year production is 97,822.6 pounds of milk and 3,136.61 pounds of butterfat, or an average for each of the three years of 32,624.2 pounds of milk and 1,045.53 pounds of butterfat, equivalent to 1,327.8 pounds of butter.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR BOOK ON DAIRY COW BREEDING

A big demand is being felt at the Wisconsin college of agriculture for the new pocket size manual "Feeding Dairy Cows" prepared by Prof. R. B. Morrison and G. C. Humphrey. This bulletin is free for the asking to farmers of the state. Orders for the booklet are being received by the hundreds from bankers of the West who wish to purchase them for free distribution among their depositors. The little bulletin is full of exceedingly practical facts and advice on the feeding of dairy cows. The sterling quality of the fund of information contained in it is apparent from the great demand for it coming from localities where it has become known.

WANTS RETAILERS UNITED THROUGH STATE CHAMBER

Corbett Will Tell Secretaries School About Bureau Expert Plan

One of the most comprehensive and vision steps ever taken for the advancement of retailing will be proposed to the merchandising seminar of the national school for commercial secretaries at Northwestern university, Evanston, the latter part of this month by Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Mr. Corbett will be instructor in the retail division of the school, and will propose a retail bureau connection with state chambers of commerce, the bureau to have a highly talented merchandising man as its secretary, and to have a wide range of duties.

The plan will be to have this man and his bureau serve the merchants of his state by making trade surveys, studying cost systems, organizing cooperative bargain events and industrial exhibits, and helping communities to build up their retail realm so it will be attractive to purchasers and will

NORTHLAND COLLEGE GETS PLANS FOR NEW BUILDINGS

Plans for the new building of Northland college at Ashland are now being prepared by the architects. F. J. Harwood of Appleton was chairman of the state drive for funds for the extension. The new building will include dormitories for boys and girls, administration building, gymnasium, library and other structures making up the college group. The building program will require several years at a cost of several hundred thousand dollars.

There also are many other functions which it will be possible for the bureau to assume.

Dry goods, hardware and other merchants are doing work of this kind for their own lines of business now, but it is believed much more can be accomplished if all retailers would concentrate their efforts through one organization. Ultimately the organizations of all states could be united so there would be a national body of 100,000 retailers, it is believed.

This plan already has been tried in Pennsylvania with success and Mr. Corbett will present a program in detail to the secretaries at Evanston. Wisconsin has no state chamber of commerce, but Mr. Corbett believes a plan of this kind may be one means of obtaining one.

NEENAH GETTING READY INLAND LAKES REGATTA

This year's regatta of the Inland Lake Yachting association to be held at Neenah, Aug. 20 to 24, will, according to all indications, be one of the largest the association has ever held. Committees of the association are now making preparations for the entertainment and accommodation of the visiting crowds.

Temporary docks are to be constructed at Riverside park and a sail loft will be available for storage of the spar rigging and equipment. The program listing prizes and events is now under preparation. Many entertainment features will be planned for the evenings during the regatta. Boats will be provided for the hundreds of visitors desiring to follow the yachts around the course.

FUNNY OLD-FASHIONED THINGS.

We always suspected it when we saw amateur theatricals at the high school—those old-time colonial gents in lace cuffs and knee pants found it difficult to wear a sword comfortably. A copy of Bradford's New York Gazette, dated 1734, carried this ad: "Lately imported, a choice parcel of swords. The blades are old but the handles are made after the newest fashion. They may be worn indifferently by men, women and children without hurting themselves or any other persons." A sword must have kept getting in the way when sitting down, not to mention tripping up strangers in a crowd. By the way, do you realize that it is only a matter less than a couple of centuries since men had to carry swords or cudgels to protect their lives? Policemen do it for us now.

They had their liquor problems, too, back in the "good old days," also the gent who lies awake night worrying about other people's troubles. The Boston Gazette in 1765 printed this letter from a reader:

"To me it seems high time for us to abate in our extravagances, for at present our folly has scarce any bounds as to eating and drinking. In a few years we shall all become turtle eaters, and a number of vessels may be employed in that branch of fishery. As to drinking, it must be punch or wine: malt liquor the doctor's do not think wholesome, and cider is almost prohibited. French brandy is encouraged to be smuggled in, and it is the town taste as well as the country's. If the French have no hand in making our laws they have great benefit by some of them. We run into the same extreme in dress, so that there is scarce any distinction between persons of great fortune and people of ordinary rank."

This old-time stuff seems quaint and laughable to us of 1923. But do not laugh too confidently. For future generations will dig into our newspapers and laugh at many of the best of our modern devices and institutions. The airplane, for instance, is just as crude now compared with what it will be in the future, as the cordwood-burning locomotive, hauling passenger cars that looked like stagecoaches, even to the detail of side brakes, seems when we compare it with the snorting steel monster that rushes our fast trains through the night. Everything becomes antiquated and ridiculous—it is just a matter of time.

ANALYZING THE BRITISH NOTE

Great Britain makes two clear leading statements in its recent, strong note on the Ruhr situation. First, it declares that the amount which Germany should pay to all the powers is the maximum amount that Germany can pay. Second, it declares that it is willing to waive part of its claim against Germany in order to effectuate a complete settlement.

The foregoing are the principal points brought out in the endeavor to force Belgium and France to a compromise. Another point, of equal importance, is that Germany's ability to pay, as well as her capacity to pay, will be reduced by methods pursued by France and Belgium. The assertion that occupation of the Ruhr is violation of the Versailles treaty is an intimation that Britain, if the Ruhr is not evacuated, will take the whole subject to international court.

Common sense reveals that a people can pay a certain maximum amount, and that the maximum can be established only by impartial investigation. Common sense indicates, likewise, that a nation must not only have capacity to pay, but ability, and that measures which halt industrial production and cause economic chaos impair this ability to pay.

France and Belgium were justified in resorting to a punitive policy. Germany never has shown good faith: on the contrary, she has consistently attempted to evade her ethical obligations. On the other, Great Britain talks common sense. Once the capacity of Germany to pay her debts is established, the nations can use economic plans to compel payment. In fact, the strongest force which could be applied is economic. Germany will have to borrow gold, and the loan arrangements would arbitrarily oblige fulfillment of pledges.

It may be that the United States, Italy and Britain will decide what Germany can pay; that is, that they will have a joint commission of experts do so. Germany will be bound to adopt this maximum, and the debtors will have no other basis for collecting account due. Apparently, England is tired of German trickery and what she thinks are Franco-Belgian mistakes.

COAL STRIKE TO BE PREVENTED

President Coolidge and the Federal Coal commission may rely on having vigorous support from the public generally in preventing a coal miners' strike. The commission was appointed to find means of determining wage and work questions in the coal industry and also protecting the interests of the people.

It is enough, as has often been said, to give owners or operators and workers the fullest chance to compose their difficulties without interference. If they cannot agree, they must be ready to accept mediation or arbitration; and to abide by it.

Both operators and workers have important rights, as they constitute the industry. But coal deposits are natural resources and coal is a public necessity, and both operators and workers must realize that public rights are greater than theirs.

Should there be cessation of production, or reduction of output, the government would be justified in either operating the mines or superintending operation. The government would be justified in operating coal trains, for superintending their operation.

Public opinion is unquestionably in sympathy with the Federal Coal commission and would back up the government in seeing that there is no interruption of coal production.

PSYCHOLOGY OF POLITICS

In virtually all the United States except New England, the general public gave but little thought to Vice President Calvin M. Coolidge. The people thought of him as an ordinary sort of citizen who had been elected to a high office in the current or party maneuvers, and he probably would retire at the end of his term, and be forgotten.

No sooner had he succeeded to the presidency, however, than the people began to express the highest opinion of him and manifest the strongest faith in him. All at once the people came to the conclusion that he had great qualities and was a positive character.

President Coolidge enters on his new duties with the silent sentiment of the masses strongly in his favor. It is a wonderful asset, but not without foundation. Calvin M. Coolidge, the man, is worthy of all the confidence and trust the people of the United States have placed in him. A brief survey of his public and private life is a convincing argument.

Tomorrow The Post-Crescent will publish the first installment of the boy life of President Coolidge. As the boy is, so shall the man be. A great insight into the character of the new president may be gained by a careful study of the article which will appear in this newspaper.

RELIEF OF NEURITIS

It stands to reason that there is no particular remedy or treatment which can give benefit indiscriminately applied in all cases of neuritis. The treatment must be adapted to the individual requirements, for the causes and manifestations of neuritis are seldom alike in any group of cases—real nerve inflammation, that is, and not the vague aches or pains which some folks ascribe to "neuritis." Sound treatment of neuritis therefore calls for the knowledge and skill of the physician. Persons afflicted with what is or what they imagine to be neuritis often prolong the disability and postpone recovery by trying this and that treatment which purports to be good for neuritis. The usual duration of an attack of neuritis is several months, even in the slightest cases which may be reasonably assumed to be nerve inflammation the duration is several weeks. It is erroneous to refer to fleeting aches or pains which last only a few hours or a few days as "neuritis."

In severe neuritis the first essential is rest. If the inflammation is limited to one nerve, say the sciatic nerve or the musculo spinal, the affected limb is placed in a suitable dressing, splints, sling or other support which will retain the limb in a comfortably flexed position without any voluntary muscle action.

Warmth or heat applied by various means will generally afford much relief to the pain of neuritis. In sciatic, prolonged hot sitz baths, the water containing a handful or two of Epsom salts or of plain salt, give much comfort. Heat applied by various kinds of electrical apparatus is perhaps not so good as moist heat, though it is harder to use; sometimes the machinery itself impresses the patient. The application of electricity is quite another matter and may be of great value in certain cases of neuritis. Of course electricity should be applied only in such form or at such times as the physician deems advisable. Electricity can do harm when applied without knowledge of the pathology of neuritis.

In the later stage of neuritis, after the acute inflammation has subsided and the pain has ceased or become less severe, massage of the region affected is a useful adjunct of treatment. Among the nerve functions which are impaired when a nerve is inflamed is the regulation of circulation in the muscles and the skin of the region affected. Massage aids in maintaining better circulation. It would be a grave mistake and perhaps cause serious harm to begin massage in the earlier stage of neuritis—a mistake which some misinformed victims make to their sorrow.

Still later in the course of neuritis a carefully adjusted system of exercises for the affected group of muscles aids in restoration. When to begin exercise and what exercises to employ is even more important for the physician to decide than is the question of using electricity or massage.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Hyper Means More

Please explain hyperthyroidism and what causes this trouble? Would iodine be beneficial if young lady has anemia?—J. W.

Answer—Hyperthyroidism is the name given to the state of excited functioning of the whole system from the stimulation produced by excessive thyroid gland secretion. It occurs from emotional injury and sometimes from the effects of fevers and focal infections of the thyroid gland. It would be unwise to give iodine unless by direction of the attending physician. It is better to remove the cause from the patient or the patient from the cause if possible, and then a prolonged course of open air rest treatment perhaps.

Peanuts And Strawberries

Are fresh strawberries wholesome and good for one who suffers from constipation? Is peanut butter constipating?—D. M.

Answer—Neither is constipating; both tend to aid intestinal action.

Blue For Girls

We've been having an argument whether blue is for a boy or girl baby?—A. M.

Answer—Blue for girls.

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE WORLD

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

President Coolidge is going ahead, at any rate for a while, without changing the Harding administration personnel—cabinet or anything. This may mean:

1. That he agrees with most of the Harding policies.

2. That he doesn't think it would be good taste or in the interest of efficiency to begin making changes too soon.

3. That he's trying to hold the organization together for political reasons, incidentally with a view to assuring himself the Republican presidential nomination in 1924.

NOT SO DIFFERENT

As for the essential policies, Harding was a Republican, of course. He was classed generally as conservative. Coolidge is the same thing, except that he's been advertised as even more of a conservative than Harding was.

The commonest guess is that the new president will abandon the World Court idea, not dropping it like a hot cake, but just letting go of it gradually.

The World Court issue was a personal matter with Harding rather than a party principle, anyway.

PRETTY WELL SUITED

Another guess is that the Harding cabinet really suits President Coolidge pretty well. The only member believed likely to drop out soon, if at all, is Attorney General Daugherty. He, again, was a personal rather than a party appointee.

GEOGRAPHY AGAINST HIM

The Republican leaders—of course meaning those without presidential ambitions of their own—seem fairly willing to go ahead on the theory that Coolidge has the next nomination logically "coming to him," providing he makes a "hit."

If he can do something perfectly wonderful in the next few months maybe he will make a "hit."

He has some big questions to try to find the right answer to—the European problem, the farmers' discontent, the coal situation this coming winter, and the prohibition puzzle, for instance.

Yes, by finding the right answers to some of these conundrums he'd stand a chance of making himself popular enough to offset his handicaps. But these are heavy—his classes as a conservative and there's a strong demand for a liberal; there's the most urgent reason for placating the west and he's from Massachusetts.

CRISIS IN GERMANY

After plots in which many were killed, Chancellor Cuno of Germany resigned, Dr. Stresemann succeeded him.

Cuno represented the plutocracy. Stresemann is people's party leader. However, the latter is said to be even more determined than was Cuno on resisting the French in the Ruhr.

England has offered to cut down her claims against Germany and also the sums due her, as debts, from the allies, meaning principally France, to the amount the British owe the United States, if the question of Germany's reparations is settled. The English declaration to this effect referred, more plainly than ever before, to France's Ruhr policy as "illegal." French statesmen's utter-

NO PROGRESS AT ALL

Argentina's considering a big appropriation to modernize her army.

It's necessary, La Razon, Argentina's leading afternoon daily, says, because of the recent Pan-American Conference was such a fizzle.

This was the same conference that the American delegates returning home, described as so much of a success.

La Prensa, foremost Argentina morning paper, lamenting North America's ignorance concerning the southern republic, remarks:

"It is imperative the United States should know the truth—that no progress was made at the Pan-American Conference with any important subject."

What is the meaning of the term dog days? J. F. K.

A. Dog days comprise the hot, sultry season of summer during parts of July and August; so-called from star, Sirius, the brightest star in the heavens, is coincident with the rising of the dog of the sun. The ancients thought this conjunction caused the intense heat of summer, and the maladies which then prevailed, hence the popular supposition that dogs are specially liable to go mad at this season. It was by more accident that the rising of the star coincided with the hottest season of the year, in the times and countries of the old astronomers. Its rising depends on the latitude of the place, and is later and later every year in all latitudes, owing to precession. In time the star may rise in the dead of winter. Obviously, there is variation in the limits of the dog days, although they are usually counted from July 2 to August 11, that is, twenty days before and twenty days after the rising in union of the star and the sun. The date given by Roger Lang as the beginning of dog days in about 735 A. D. is July 14th.

Q. Who discovered that finger prints had individuality? F. R. B.

A. The taking of finger prints is known to have been practiced in the past at a very early period when thumb prints were a monarch's sign manual. The permanent character of thumb prints was first put forward scientifically in 1823 by J. E. Perkin, a professor of physiology who read a paper before the University of Breslau advocating a system of classification. His work was taken up by Berwick, an English draftsman, who made a number of impressions, and later by Sir Francis Galton and Sir William Herschel.

Q. What does Shebandean mean? L. A. H.

A. It's English translation is Daughter of the Stars. The valley which bears this name is famous in American history as a battle ground of the French and Indian wars; as a point from which Daniel Morgan conducted operations against the British in the Revolution; and later as high strategic territory in the Civil War. One town in the valley—Winchester—is said to have changed hands seventy-two times during the Civil War.

Q. From what part of the country does the East receive the bulk of its timber supply? K. F. N.

A. From the South and Far West. In a recent booklet the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture, shows that the lumber industry has constantly shifted toward the West, where three-fifths of the Nation's remaining supply of saw timber is located.

Q. What is Firpo's nationality? H. A. C.

A. Luis Angel Firpo is an Argentinian.

Q. What color predominates in flowers? C. N. O.

A. Luther Burbank says that more than half of the flowers in the world are red or some shade of red.

A. The oronotus species of the rattlesnake is found on Mt. Whitney, California, at an altitude of 8000 feet. This is the highest peak in the United States.

Q. When the earth becomes entirely cold, what will become of the sea? M. G. B.

A. The Outline of Science says that if in the course of ages the supply of heat from the sun becomes less and less, the earth will become cold. The sea will become as hard as rock, frozen from top to bottom, and over this an ocean of liquid air will roll about forty feet in depth.

Q. In testing materials, how many different kinds of strength are there? C. T. C.

HAWAII REPORTS ON UNIQUE EXPERIMENT

Kaunakakai, Island of Molokai.—The progress of Hawaii's ambitious experiment in humanity, the effort to rehabilitate the dying Hawaiian race by returning its representatives to the soil and to the environment that was their ancestor's before the invasion of the white man, passed successfully through an exacting crucible of investigation on the occasion of the territorial legislature's visit here.

The opinion of the majority of the legislators was that the work thus far has been well done, and that the lands are sufficiently fertile to preclude virtual assurance of the success of the colony, which comprises 15 families of Hawaiian blood.

Some legislators, however, voiced doubt that the endeavor would result favorably and were of the opinion that the present difficulties in the path of the experiment would prove insurmountable. These disadvantages include lack of sufficient water for necessary irrigation; absence of transportation facilities; and an apparent lack of a market for the produce of the settlers.

Members of the colony expressed boundless hope that they would be able to win through the difficulties.

"We are going to come out all right," one settler told the Associated Press correspondent. "You should see how the people work all day, taking just enough time for meals and planting in the moonlight up to 11 o'clock at night. We are determined

CORN IS GOOD BUT HAY IS POOR, CROP REPORT DECLARES

Drouth In July Lowered Crop Conditions—Milk Prices Are Higher

A promising corn crop, a short hay crop and fair yields of small grains feature the August report of the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service at Madison. In northern Wisconsin crop conditions are generally satisfactory. The July drouth greatly lowered conditions in the western and southwest-ern part of the state. In the south-eastern part, crops are fair to good, and in the remainder of the state conditions are very uneven depending upon the occurrence of local showers which relieved the drouth.

The corn crop in Wisconsin is very promising and is uniformly good throughout the state. Although the crop was at a standstill in many parts of the state during the dry periods of July, later rains have given prospects for an excellent crop. The condition of 80 per cent of normal is 3 points above last year's condition at this time. Forecast production of 93 million bushels is 6 million bushels greater than the August forecast of last year.

HAY IS 72 PER CENT
The short hay crop in the southern half of the state is one of the marked developments of the crop year. This year's crop for the entire state falls short by 28 per cent of last year's production. In the southwestern part of the state the crop is only 53 per cent of a full yield, and in most sections only two-thirds of a crop is reported.

A wet, backward spring followed by hot, dry weather in June and early July affected hay and pasture to a greater extent than the other Wisconsin crops. Alfalfa maintained its condition better than the other varieties of hay, the condition being reported as 86 per cent for alfalfa, 67 per cent for timothy hay.

OATS BELOW AVERAGE
For the state as a whole, no change took place in the condition of oats since July 1. Rainfall during July was very irregular, small areas getting local showers and adjoining communities receiving no rain whatsoever. Accordingly, yields of oats will vary a great deal. Condition of oats on Aug. 1 or at time of harvest was 51 per cent of normal, which is 11 points below last year's condition. Production is forecast to be 92 million bushels, or 9 per cent less than last year's harvest.

BARLEY AND RYE LESS
Condition of barley at time of harvest was 82 per cent, compared to 90 per cent last year. Rains in early July were helpful, and the crop had generally been cut previous to the severe drouth. Production is forecast at 13 million bushels, which is 6 per cent less than last year's production.

The preliminary yield of rye in Wisconsin is one-half bushel below last year's yield. A yield of 16 bushels to the acre indicates a production of 6 million bushels, which is 12 per cent below last year's harvest. Quality of rye is reported as good.

Winter wheat yield in Wisconsin is placed at 15 bushels per acre, or 1.6 bushels less than the preliminary yield last year. Spring wheat showed a condition at time of harvest of 77 per cent of normal. The combined production of winter and spring wheat is forecast to be 2 1/2 billion bushels, or 17 per cent below last year's production.

PASTURES POOR
Except in the northern part of the state, pastures in Wisconsin were short and dry. Condition in the southwestern part of the state is reported as low as 45 per cent of normal. Generally, pastures had been grazed short and failed to make much growth before drouths developed. Rainfalls of late July and August, together with cooler weather, are expected to bring about an improvement.

Fire blight, which seems to be very general in the state, and dry weather have lowered the condition of apples to 75 per cent of normal. The condition indicates a crop of the same size as last year. The condition of commercial orchards is better being 80 per cent.

Commercial apple growers of the state have made a report to this office on the per cent of the total apple crop that consists of summer varieties, fall varieties, and winter varieties. The reports indicate that the apple crop in prospect consists of 27 per cent of summer varieties, 49 per cent of fall varieties, and 24 per cent of strictly winter varieties. The most frequently reported summer varieties were the Duchess, Yellow Transparent, Red As-

GOVERNOR'S LOVE OF DOG SPLITTING STATE OF MAINE

Death Of Pet Canine Makes People Wax Warm Over Executive's Actions

By Associated Press
Augusta, Me.—The august state of Maine is divided against itself over the matter of a dog.

It all started with Garry's illness. Garry, an Irish setter, was the inseparable companion of Governor Percival P. Baxter. The dog and his forebears had been in the Baxter family 27 years. When his master moved over to Blaine Mansion, the State White House, Garry went along.

Each morning the dog would visit the Capitol, and drop in to see his many friends in every office. In the executive chamber there was a special couch provided for him, and on it Garry would lie for hours at a time waiting for the governor to finish his work. Then together they would walk over the hills, and through the woods.

Some of the citizens thought the governor was paying too much attention to the dog. It was undignified, they said. But then President Harding got Laddie Boy, and they modified their views.

Garry became a veritable shadow of the governor. He trailed his master wherever he went, even on railroad trips. He enjoyed a special permit to ride in the coaches of the Maine Central Railroad.

The governor, a bachelor, is an ardent lover of all animals. He sponsored the first anti-vivisection law by a legislature in the United States.

trechan, and Raspberry. The Wealties, McIntosh, McMahon, and Snow are reported as the most general fall and early winter varieties. The North-western Greening, Delicious, Tolman Sweet, Ben Davis, and Jonathan are given as the leading varieties in the winter class.

SUGAR BEET ACREAGE LARGE.
Wisconsin farmers have increased the acreage of sugar beets this year, by 54 per cent. The relatively high condition of 87 per cent on Aug. 1, forecasts a production of 173,000 tons, or 40 per cent above last year's production. The sugar beet production for the United States is forecast to be 26 per cent above last year.

The buckwheat acreage in the state is estimated to be 10 per cent less than last year and the condition on Aug. 1 as 75 per cent of normal. Early sown buckwheat is in good condition, but that which was sown late is backward because of the dry weather of July. The forecast production of 295,000 bushels is 18 per cent less than last year's crop.

MILK PRICES UP
The July milk price this year shows a very slight increase over that of June, the average price received by farmers for July milk being reported as $1.95 per cwt., as compared to the June price of $1.93. This year's July price was 43 cents per cwt. more than a year ago. The bottom of the decline in milk prices was reached in June 1921, when the average price of milk was $1.26 per cwt. Since that time the trend has been constantly upward. The average prices for the first seven months of 1923 are 37 per cent above the prices for the same period last year.

Piles

Can't Be Cured from the Outside
External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must first cure the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and used it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Schilitz Bros. Co., who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer. adv.

He recently made possible a new bird refuge.

"My dog and myself constitute my family," he says.

Last September, Garry became ill. He was sent to a Boston hospital and given the best care. But it wasn't enough. The dog died.

The governor was heartbroken. He ordered the flag at the state house lowered to half mast.

Immediately came a storm of protest. The state commanders of the G. A. R. and the American Legion, and leaders of other patriotic groups called the governor's action "ill-advised" and "unfitting." This was answered by the governor's friends.

"I seek to offend the feelings of none," said the governor, "but I yield to no one the right to act according to the dictates of my heart. My faithful dog, unlike many of my human friends, never betrayed or believed ill of me."

HAPPIER, HEALTHIER WOMEN

By thousands are known to exist in this country because they have been relieved from pain and suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Science in surgery and electricity have advanced greatly during the past fifty years, but treatment of disease by old-fashioned root and herb medicines have never been improved upon. The leader of them all is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which after fifty years of success is today recognized as the standard remedy for female ills and sold everywhere for that purpose. Replies to a questionnaire recently sent out to 50,000 women by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass., proved that it benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it. Isn't this a marvelous record for any medicine to hold?

VELIE CARS ARE DOUBLE CHECKED

Two Inspectors Place Approval
On New Products From

There is a system now enforced at the Velle Motors corporation, Moline, Ill., that assures the purchaser of a perfect Velle car.

For a long time only one inspector was employed to place the final stamp of approval on Velle cars. He represented the factory. Now the sales department has a skilled man who goes over every part of the car after the factory inspector has done his work. This double checking places a flawless car in the hands of the buyer.

In commenting on the new system Lenz Electric & Auto Co., Velle distributors in Appleton stated that it was only another indication of the sincerity of the Velle officials to give the public the finest car that can be bought near the price of the Velle.

HIGHWAY C WILL NOT BE OPEN FOR FAIR AT SEYMOUR

Concrete Work is Finished But Road is Too Narrow With-out Shoulders

It is not likely that the newly paved section of the Seymour-Appleton rd will be open to traffic before the opening of the Seymour fair, according to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. Although the cement has all been poured on the two and a half mile stretch, the concrete is not of sufficient width to permit use of that part of the road until the dirt shoulders have been completed. Mr. Brusewitz said. The concrete is 9 feet wide.

Parker and Wunderlich are now working on the shoulders and are endeavoring to have the job completed by the first part of September.

Traffic on the Appleton-Menasha rd probably will be opened somewhat earlier, because the concrete is 18 feet wide. Greinke Brothers are finishing their work on the shoulders.

No concrete has as yet been poured on the concrete stretch on the Bear Creek-New London rd, on which William Tate is at work. The Greenville-Stephensville rd has been completed for some time.

After accompanying the attorneys of both parties to the object of attack, Judge Spencer dismissed the action.

THE YELLOW SEVEN: THE DAUGHTER OF CHAI-HUNG

BY EDMUND SNEEL

"Yes," said the other without enthusiasm. "Dawson did his job and the Commissioner was pleased about it. These were five of the swine, and we caught, tried and executed them with all due pomp and ceremony; but we didn't succeed in getting any information out of 'em. We're no nearer the solution of the Yellow Seven mystery than we were when we started. You say your area's quiet. I'm glad of it. But in almost every other district these gang-murders continue."

Brabazon whistled.

"You'll pardon my ignorance on the subject, I know; but what is this Yellow Seven?"

The boy came in with the drinks Brabazon had ordered, and Pennington smoked until he had disappeared. "The Yellow Seven is a card—like an ordinary Chinese playing card," he said. "You know the things; as long as my forefinger, with rounded ends, black one side—and a series of dots on the other—some red, some black."

"And this one—?"

"This particular card has a bright yellow face, with seven dots on it. In all—four above a faint line—and three below it. It cropped up some time back, when Lady Stornaway's diamond pendant disappeared from Hewitt's bungalow."

"I remember it," broke in Brabazon. "But the Commissioner got that back in a couple of days."

"I got it back," continued Pennington. "I'll tell you all about it some day. There was another card connected with the Allison case, and a knife, bearing the same grim symbol on its handle, preceded an attempt to assassinate the Commissioner of Police himself. Now the whole island's seething with the cursed things and Hewitt won't hear of my leaving until I've secured the body of the ring-leader—dead or alive."

"Know who he is?"

"The most respected Chinese gentleman in Borneo," declared the other. Brabazon dropped into a chair.

"Not Chai-Hung?" he whispered.

"Why not?" demanded Pennington.

"Good Lord! He hangs out within a stone-throw of us! I'd have staked my last dollar on Mr. Chai-Hung."

Brabazon emptied his glass.

"Why don't you collar him?"

"I've been within an ace of doing so, more than a score of times; but he's found a way out each time."

Brabazon felt for another cigar.

"I ran across him only yesterday," he growled.

Pennington sprang to his feet.

"You met Chai-Hung?"

"Certainly! I was up in the Tamil looking for a pony. I was bargaining with a Bajou thief, when Chai-Hung strolled up. We chatted together for a half-an-hour."

"Did he ask which way you were going?" Pennington demanded.

"I fancy he did; but I changed my mind at the last moment and dropped in at the Dutch padre's."

The daughter of Chai-Hung . . .

"I'm more than glad you changed your route, old son," Pennington assured him. "Because, if you hadn't, you wouldn't be here now—and, for all your faults, you're one of the few men I shouldn't care to lose sight of."

Brabazon's broad face bore an expression of surprise and amusement.

"What's that? My faults?"

Pennington came across the floor and dropped a hand on his friend's shoulder.

"I refer to the women. Gold bless 'em," he told him.

"Oh—that?"

"You were positively ogling one when I met you."

Brabazon cringed.

"When you came up? You don't mean that Malay girl? My dear old idiot, surely a fellow can admire a certain regularity of feature without being called to account for it!"

Pennington laughed.

"You're a terrible man, Brabazon," he said. "I remember a girl in Kuala Lumpur telling me that you were irresistible. How long are you stopping in town?"

"Going back by the morning train."

"I was only going to warn you that, if you happen to meet the Commissioner's sister, just try and restrain that abnormal flow of personal magnetism—for my sake."

"Oh-ho," remarked the planter, raising his eyebrows. "What's her name?"

"Vivian," said Pennington. "Monte-Vivian. She's a widow."

Brabazon winked.

"I thought you said it was Chai-Hung who kept you in Jerselton."

"It is," Pennington assured him earnestly, "but I'm not sorry about it, all the same."

"I bet you're not! When's it coming off?"

Pennington gazed dreamily over the rail.

"Possibly not at all. I haven't asked her opinion on the subject yet."

"Good heavens, man! What on earth are you waiting for?"

Pennington turned.

"I'm waiting until I've nailed Chai-Hung!" he declared.

Brabazon scrambled to his feet and joined him.

"What any help?"

"Possibly."

"Then call on me for it. I'm just about fed up with the life. I'm leading. A thundering good row'd about clear my head."

"Thanks," returned Pennington warmly. "I fancy you'll be in one before long."

"Good enough."

Brabazon rubbed his hands together in anticipation.

"In the meantime, keep your weather-eye open for Chai-Hung."

He paused and looked at what he thought was the boy listened in the light of a sun that was low in the western heavens. "It's a weary world, Brabazon," he continued. "I used to delight in these nocturnal wanderings, these arid up-country treks. I suppose it was because I had nobody to worry about but myself. I fancy that if I manage to pull this through, I shall hand in my resignation. I wonder if you'll understand me. They kidnapped Hewitt and his sister came with me to look for him. A subtle change has crept over me ever since. I find myself a great deal too solicitous about my own welfare. Queer, isn't it? Cheerio!"

Brabazon went back to Ketatan by the morning train. He had not seen Pennington since their meeting at the Rest-House, but he had run into a lively crowd of brother-planters and Government men, and the climax of the "celebration" that followed had been something in the nature of a disaster! A dull throbbing at his temples reminded him of this.

Brabazon was a planter of experience. He knew just how much a coolie could be expected to do in a day. As he went the rounds on his Bajou pony, he encountered nothing but veiled insolence, and tasks half done.

It was close on sundown when he regained his bungalow. He stumbled up the steps and dropped into a cane chair. He was wondering who it was had sown the seeds of rebellion in the minds of his men.

By sheer force of habit, he reached for his glass and, as he did so, something passed his cheek so closely that he felt the wind of it, and stuck, quivering, in the wooden wall behind him.

He was still standing in the same position when the boy came in with the lamp. Brabazon, squaring his broad shoulders, uncorked the bottle. He poured himself out a stiff tot.

He was gazing at an arrow, with a fine metal barb, its butt-end split to admit a long, narrow strip of pasteboard. On the side toward Brabazon was a bright yellow surface, ornamented with a series of black circles. He crossed the veranda and plucked the thing from the woodwork. The boy was slipping past him but the planter's hand shot out and caught him round to face him. He held the symbol almost under the creature's nose.

"What do you know of the Yellow Seven?" he demanded roughly.

The Chinaman shivered.

"Nothing, tuan," he stammered fearfully.

Brabazon stuck his legs wide apart and nodded his head several times, a grim smile playing on his lips.

"Bila," he said presently. "Clear out!"

Mindful of Pennington's warning and with an uneasy feeling gripping his spine, he sent a watchman with an urgent note to Wallace—one of his juniors, requesting him to join him immediately—and he prepared to stop the night. While waiting for the return of the messenger, he scribbled a note to Pennington and enclosed with it the Yellow Seven.

"Dear Penn," he wrote. "I have just received the enclosed arrowpost. I'm not particularly scared at things I understand, but this has come as somewhat of a shock."

Cheerio! G. Brabazon

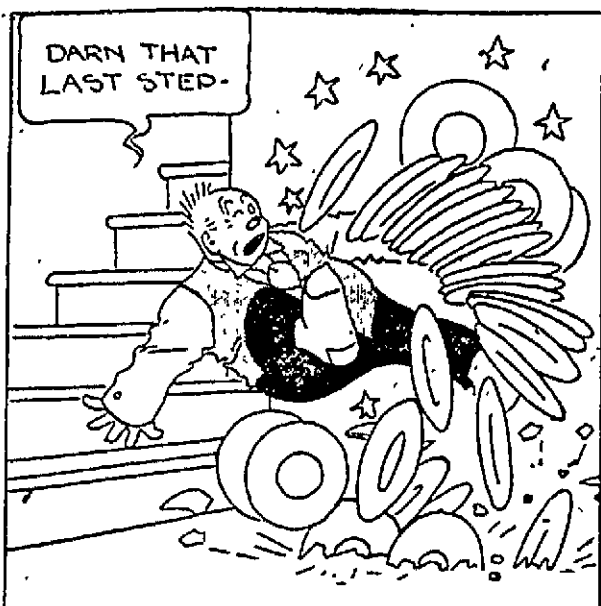

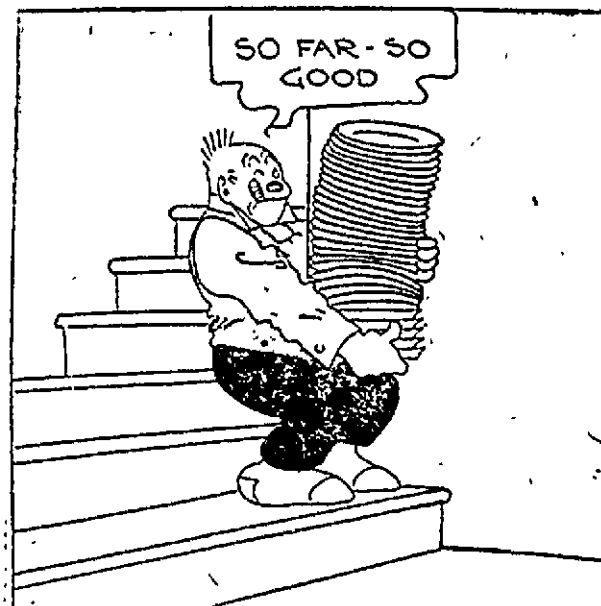

Wallace, a genial youth with sandy hair and freckled face, arrived at the foot of the veranda steps at about nine, followed by a coolie, carrying a long bamboo pole with a basket of clothes suspended at one end and a pair of field-boots at the other. He was accompanied, moreover, by a large hound, short-haired and boisterous.

"Evening, Brabazon! Don't mind me bringing my dog. I hope? What's in the wind?"

MICHIGAN CALF CLUB BOYS COME TO VISIT FARMS

Forty Youngsters Visit Outagami-Co To Gather New Farming Ideas

Some forty sturdy boys from Cloverland arrived in Appleton Thursday evening on the second day of their educational trip through Wisconsin's dairy centers. They were the Michigan calf club boys that the Upper Peninsula Development bureau is conducting through the state to teach them something of Wisconsin's ideas in breeding and dairying.

It was an orderly group of boys that was fed and lodged by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce at Y. M. C. A. and then escorted to Fischer's Appleton theater Thursday evening. They were somewhat abashed, for some of them had never seen a "big city" like Appleton before. But they were having the trip of their lives.

In songs and yells they showed their appreciation to Secretary George W. Werner who tendered them the privileges of the Y. M. C. A., to Dr. Kinsman for his address of welcome and to the chamber of commerce for its hospitality. Those on the reception committee were Dr. Kinsman, Louis Bonini, W. E. Smith, Stephen Balliet, R. A. Amundsen and Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce.

TWO KINDS OF BOYS
In his speech of welcome, Dr. Kinsman referred briefly to the first money he earned on the farm and his first experience in raising a calf presented him by his father.

"I want to congratulate you boys," he said, "on the way you have started out. There are boys who like to spend all they earn, but there others want to place their money in investments, especially the kind of investments you have chosen."

"I don't want you to become so converted to Wisconsin that you will want to leave your country to come here. You have a fine country and should develop it. But we might swap a few thoroughbreds."

Dr. Kinsman expressed the hope that the boys would like Appleton and the community and feel inclined to come back to visit here again.

In accepting the welcome, E. G. Bishop, secretary of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau, expressed for the boys their thanks to Appleton and the chamber of commerce for their cordiality, courtesy and hospitality. He related how the "hard headed business men" of the upper peninsula came to the conclusion that $1,000 invested in a trip of this kind to send the future farmers of Michigan to Wisconsin to "steal a few of your ideas" was a sound investment. Mr. Bishop was a student of Dr. Kinsman 22 years ago.

Before the boys left for the theater, A. G. Kettunen, Michigan club leader who is in charge of the group, announced the program for the following day on which they were to be conducted by County Agent Amundsen to some of the representative dairy farms of the county. He said he would distribute cards and asked all the boys to write home. To this Mr. Corbett answered that the chamber of commerce has cards all written and stamped and need only to be signed and addressed.

WORKMAN OVERCOME BY GAS WORKING IN WELL

Marquette—Earl Wyman, Middle Inlet, Marquette county, was overcome by gas while working in a well. Telling his companion that he would have to leave, he took hold of the hoisting rope, and he fell back unconscious. He struck on a large spoon shovel cutting a deep gash in his shoulder. His companion, P. McMullin, lowered a ladder and went down into the well, fastening a chain about the body of the unconscious man, returned to the surface and pulled him up with a windlass. He soon revived when brought to the surface. It is believed the gas was from a charge of picric acid that had been discharged the preceding day.

KEEP MAIL BOXES PAINTED, U. S. URGES

Postoffice Department Urges Improvement In Appearance Of Rural Mail Boxes

Postmaster William H. Zuehlke has been asked by the postmaster general to give particular attention to the appearance of rural mail boxes when making his semi-annual inspection of the rural routes.

It is the desire of the postal department to improve the appearance of the boxes, but it seeks to accomplish this without compulsory methods. It appeals to the pride of the rural patrons and the community.

As a rule, the appearance of mail boxes is very unsatisfactory, it is said. This is on account of the fact that the galvanized or aluminum finish wears off and in some cases the box begins to rust. It is the purpose of the department to improve the general appearance of the boxes, not only as a credit to the postal service but also to the community.

It is desirable that all mail boxes be painted white and that the name of the family head be painted or stenciled in neat letters one inch high on each side of the box. The post or support should also be painted white, as this not only improves the appearance but adds materially to the life of the posts. The boxes and posts should be painted at least once a year, it is suggested.

Postmasters are not required to withdraw mail service from patrons who refuse to comply, unless the boxes are no longer waterproof or are otherwise unfit for use.

MICHIGAN NAMES CLUB HOUSE AFTER FOOTBALL MENTOR

Alumni, State Officials Of State And University, Request Honor For Coach

By Associated Press
Ann Arbor — The decision of the University of Michigan to name the new Ferry Field Club house the "Yost Field House" did not come as an inspiration but rather as the result of a demand to thus honor the football mentor, from followers of the Maize and Blue in every part of the world.

For months past the athletic authorities have been deluged with requests that this tribute be paid the coach. The letters came from alumni associations, state officials, men high in official life of this country, including Judge William Day, of the Supreme Court of the United States, and the university body. The requests took the form of petitions, resolutions and letters which in some cases approached demand.

One of the resolutions passed by the university board in control of athletics is typical. This resolution acknowledges that: "Fielding H. Yost has faithfully and efficiently discharged the duties of his position with credit to the university and to himself; at all times has been earnest in advancing the fame of Michigan in the field of athletic endeavor; has impressed upon those with whom he came in contact ideals of fair play, clean living and of unselfish giving; and has been a beneficial factor in moulding the character of those about him."

I SPIED TODAY

NEVER LOOK BACK

A careless motorist wasted considerable of his precious time and money Wednesday afternoon when his desire to look back got the better of him. He was driving a Maxwell car on Richmond-st and when he reached Packard-st he ran over a dog, but did not stop to see what damage he had done. His curiosity got the better of him, however, and he turned around to see. In so doing, he ran into another car and was forced to stop to settle both accounts.

C. L.

SHE WAS THERE FIRST

No automobile can scare a certain Mother Hen in Seymour off the road when she chooses to take her brood for an airing. She proved it to a motorist who drove down Main-st at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The driver tooted the horn repeatedly, but Mother Hen and all the little Hens walked serenely on their way. The driver proved himself to be out of the ordinary for he stopped and waited until the naughty "ady" was safely past.

C. O. B.

NO SECOND SPEED

An elderly man riding a bicycle up Pearl-st hill Wednesday afternoon realized all too well that there is no "second" on bicycles. He made the long pull up the hill with considerable difficulty and when he reached the place where most automobile drivers are forced to shift, he had to get off and push his "machine" up the hill.

COOLIDGE STUDIES HARDING POLICIES

a short time to show the country what kind of an executive he is. In four or five months presidential primary contests will be here and if rival candidates think Mr. Coolidge is not making a satisfactory showing before the country, they will redouble their efforts to carry important states in the primaries.

Mr. Coolidge, therefore, must work fast. Some people are disposed to think he worked fast when he selected as private secretary Eusebio Simps, former representative from Virginia, and an astute Republican politician with a wide acquaintance and influence in the south where delegates are usually much sought after by the managers of presidential candidates. President Coolidge is really not guilty of that charge. All that he did was to ask Speaker Gillett and other friends who knew Congress well just what type of a man he ought to have for a variety of reasons and it is of course probable that they thought of the necessity of lining up southern delegates for Mr. Coolidge although he himself might never have suspected the politics in it.

What Mr. Coolidge needed in the White House was a man who knew politics, and politicians. He also wanted a genial soul who would know how to make political folk feel at home when they called at the White House. Woodrow Wilson had that type of secretary in Joseph P. Tumulty who was really a political manager as well as a secretary.

When Mr. Coolidge has familiarized himself with the Harding policies, he will no doubt express his viewpoint on pending questions explicitly. Some of his statements will be reiteration

"Happy Is The Business"

We can add a heartfelt "AMEN" to these lines from an editorial in the Saturday Evening Post;

"Sentiment plays quite as large a part in trade as in other affairs of life. Sentiment, once established works with silent and often unsuspected power. Happy is the business that has this mighty undercurrent working for it rather than against it."

Happy indeed—and fortunate, too, the business that realizes that the heart as well as the head must play an essential part in guiding it to success.

STATE LEAGUE STANDINGS FACE SHAKEUP SUNDAY

Appleton-Kaukauna Contest Expected To Be Pitchers' Duel

Many Local Fans Expect to Attend Contest at Electric City, Assuring Good Crowd of Rooters

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE
Fond du Lac at Marinette.
APPLETON AT KAUKAUNA.
Green Bay at Menasha.
Sheboygan at Oshkosh.

Rush's league leading Menasha club will be pitted against the fifth place Green Bay tribe Sunday, which practically assures the Palls holding their lofty position for another week at least. The contest between Appleton and its traditional enemies at Kaukauna will be a close fight, dopesters say, as both of these clubs are out for blood every time they meet on the diamond, and enjoy nothing more than to humble each other. Trentman and Lathrop will be called upon to do their stuff on the mound with even more pep and spirit than their usually dispassionate and both teams will be on their toes up to the last second of play. It is expected that a record crowd will attend the game at Kaukauna, as many Appleton fans are planning to accompany their team to the Electric City.

DOUBLE HEADER WITH TWINS
Fond du Lac is scheduled for a game with Marinette Saturday afternoon, but it is probable that this plan will be changed and that the teams will stage a doubleheader Sunday. The Red Sox and the Twins are tied for last place. Their attempt to get out of the basement is bound to offer plenty of excitement.

Sheboygan has been playing good ball all season, and anticipates a short and easy game with the Oshkosh tribe which now holds sixth place in the McGillan circuit.

The race for the state league pennant is extremely close, and the results of Sunday's games may upset the entire standings. Even the tailenders, Marinette, Menominee and Fond du Lac, still have a chance, however remote, to climb to the first division in the seven games which remain to be played, and stranger things have been known to happen in the history of the diamond. Most of the clubs have now found the lineup they will make looking for all season, and will make very few changes hereafter.

Star Pitchers Of Last Year Have Tough Breaks

It's a tough season for the pitching idols.

Four of the leading twirlers in the American League in 1922 were Urban Faber, of the White Sox, Urban Shocker, of Browns, Herman Pillette, of Tigers, and Eddie Rommel, of Athletics. Combined, this quartet turned in something like 92 victories or an average of 23 each. Which wasn't bad for a season's effort.

ONLY SHOCKER DOING WELL
But thus far this season, only one of them, Shocker, has displayed any of the clever ability exhibited last year. He has performed nicely.

But how about the other three, Faber, Pillette and Rommel? They are far behind their regular stride, apparently. And their clubs obviously have suffered to an appreciable extent.

Faber, to date, has lost more games than he has won. In fact Detroit appears to be the only team he has on

NEW YORK GIANTS REGAIN PEP: BEAT CINCINNATI, 7 TO 1

Yankees Win From St. Louis, Browns, 3 To 1, In Hard Fought Game

By Associated Press
Chicago — The league leaders regained their old time vim and vigor Thursday and forged ahead once more. The New York Nationals beat the Cincinnati Reds at the polo grounds, 7 to 1, making their lead seven and a half games.

The New York Americans won from the St. Louis Browns in St. Louis in a tight fought pitchers' battle, 5 to 1. Dave Danforth, the losing pitcher, won a moral victory, allowing only three hits to Pennock's five.

Hits by Fothergill and Cobb won for the Detroit Americans over Philadelphia, 3 to 0 in Detroit.

Burleigh Grimes pitched a shut out against the St. Louis Nationals on their home field and the Brooklyn Robins won, 3 to 0. He allowed only four hits. The Cleveland Indians pounded Ethel for ten hits in Cleveland, and defeated the Boston Americans, 12 to 3. He was driven from the box in the fourth and replaced by Murray.

In Chicago, Leon Cadore, formerly of the Robins, was driven off the mound in the third inning, and the Washington Americans beat the Chicago White Sox, 9 to 2. The Cubs defeated Boston, 6 to 2, by a severe attack on Oeschke in the first half of the game. General Gouraud, French war hero, witnessed the game and was introduced to the players.

Burleigh Grimes, veteran Brooklyn twirler, let St. Louis down with four hits, and put across a shutout for the second straight of the series. Bernie Neis' home run was enough for Grimes to win on, but his mates chalked up two additional runs.

The veteran Harry Hooper collected four hits in five times up, but his mates lacked the punch, and Chicago bowed to Washington, leaving ten men stranded on the bases.

Ty Cobb, the Georgia peach, started Detroit to a victory over Philadelphia when his triple sent in the first run. Fothergill added another with a home run and a few more hits sent Hellmann across the plate. Galloway was the only Philadelphia pitcher to fathom George Dauss' pitching, the little short stop making three of the five hits off the Detroit star. Galloway also was the only Athletic to get beyond first base.

TEX DENIES WILLIS MEET JACK IN LUIS' PLACE
New York—Vicious denials from practically every one concerned on Thursday followed the rumor that Harry Willis would substitute for Luis Firoo as Jack Dempsey's opponent in the championship bout at the Polo grounds on Sept. 16. The rumor had it that Dempsey had not yet signed for the match and that he did not want Firoo as an opponent, but was ready to sign to meet Willis. The entire story was denied by Tex Rickard, by Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, and by Dan McNetrick, Kearns' associate in business, who was originally quoted as authority for the story.

Atlantic City, N. J.—George Kuhna, former Hawaiian aquatic sensation, is sick and tired of being a professional. Now, after three years in the "pro" class, he's begging reinstatement in the amateur ranks.

He longs to race his old team mates, Duke Kahanamoku and Harold Kruger, again. And he would love to represent the United States in the Eighth Olympiad in Paris next year.

If his application is granted, he'll probably fight it out with Johnny Weissmuller, Norman Ross and Kahanamoku as to who'll wear the American colors in the Olympic championship spring events.

Kuhna hasn't competed in a "pro" event since 1921, when he resigned as coach of the Ambassador Swimming club here. Ethel's Bleckner, former woman's amateur champion, succeeded him. She, too, is anxious to return to the amateur fold, beach gossip has it.

FOUR BLUE MOUND GOLFERS ENTER OSHKOSH PRO MEET
Milwaukee—Blue Mound will be well represented in the annual open tournament of the Wisconsin Professional Golfers' Association at Oshkosh on Sunday and Monday. Jim May, the club professional, has entered and three of his assistants—Bernard Bucholz, Charles Alget and Ed Huebner—will also compete for the state championship.

According to reports from Oshkosh, the course of the Oshkosh Country club has been put in wonderful condition for the event. J. H. Wall, president of the club, has given his personal attention to many details of the event and the most promise to be the most successful ever held by the association.

A number of amateurs, in addition to the pro stars of the state, will compete for the open title.

OTHERS SHOW UP POORLY
The same holds true for Pillette, who after a brilliant season in his first year in the majors, was looked upon as a future great. But so far, Pillette has dropped almost twice as many hits as he has won.

And Rommel? The fellow who won the entire baseball world by winning the 1922 world's championship Athletics in 1922—what's the matter with Ed? He's a wonderful pitcher, but he's a year and a half in the "bunker." It would seem that way. For Rommel still is below the 500 mark in the percentages.

Thus have three of the four star pitchers of 1922 got off on anything but the right foot. Counted upon as certain winners, they have so far failed to show their reputed stuff.

All of which shows, that this is a tough season for pitching acts.

MAYEFSKIS MEET NEW LONDON HERE IN SUNDAY'S GAME

Appleton Rivals Journey To Green Bay, Kaukauna Regulators To DePere

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE
Kaukauna Regulars at DePere.
Appleton Rivals at Green Bay.
New London at Appleton.

Kromer's league now lacks one club to complete the eight team circuit, and the Kaukauna Rivals are without a game for Sunday in consequence. Kromer's Comers, however, are still on the job, and will compete with the last DePere tribe Sunday afternoon at DePere. Kaukauna has defeated DePere twice this season, and DePere has once game to its credit.

The Appleton Rivals, led by Newman, are to look home with Green Bay Sunday. Newman's outfit started late in the season and is just getting into its stride.

Mayefski is scheduled to meet the strong New London Amateurs at Interlake park here Sunday afternoon. The two teams are even, each having won and lost a game. The game starts at 2:45 Sunday afternoon, and the price of admission will be 25 cents.

Motor Camp Outfit Is Efficient And Cheap For Modern Anglers

By MORRIS ACKERMAN
Nationally Known Authority and Writer on the Great Out-of-Doors, and Editor of Ackerman's Sportsman's Guide
FIRST ARTICLE—WHAT TO BUY

This is the day of the motor camp, and tomorrow will be better. A large percentage of our population has access to motor tours and don't forget a hot night a free camp site on the shore of a cool lake does one more good than an expensive room in a hot hotel.

Remember when you make a motor trip your car has no objection to a few added pounds of camping luggage. The investment you make in a tent, a bit of camp furniture and bedding will just about pay for itself in a 10-day trip.

You can buy tents of all sizes and shapes, with or without poles, heavy and light, costly and otherwise. If you want to stay at a hotel you can, but if you don't, you don't have to. I have noticed that the hotels are near the railway station and that camp sites are on the beaches. Has this a summer camping suggestion for you?

Folding cots are the sleeping rigs for summer. You don't need sheets and pillow cases. A discarded quilt from the attic makes as fine a bed as the whitest sheeting. A sea island cotton, "canned flax" is used for cooking in free camp sites.

You can get gasoline camp stoves that make quick and hot gas. Solidified alcohol is another cheap and effective heat for fast traveling. The day of chasing down a sharp tree with a dull axe "is wend."

While the black flies are gone from the land at this season of the year, the mosquito remains, to some extent, the lord of the night. A few cents' worth of netting will reduce the lordling considerably. A few cents' worth of cheesecloth puts the skids under black flies and all.

Netting, however, gives you more ventilation. Take your choice. The matter of added equipment depends on personal whims. The less you have, having enough, the less to pack. Motor camping today is a pleasure. Expansive roads welcome you—lovely camp sites welcome you—the fishing is great.

Come on! TOMORROW: Mascallunge and pik.

CHICAGO GOLFERS ENTER JUNIOR SEMI-FINAL PLAY
Chicago—Following a double round of match play, Thursday, interest in the Western Junior Golf championship tournament centered on the semi-final matches in the championship section and third flights. Emerson Carey, Hutchinson, Kan., and L. A. Montedoro, Memphis, Tenn., and Ira Couch and Bob White, both Chicagoans, were matched in the championship flight.

In the second flight Carrick, Scarboro, Ont., will meet S. Bernard, Chicago, while M. Miller of Riverside will play against T. J. Schmidt, Willowick.

Third flight semifinalists were matched as follows: Yoris Bennett, Bloomington, Ill., vs. L. Martin, Apawamis, and J. Bartlett, Hammond, Ind., vs. M. Hart, Indian Hill.

INTERCITY TENNIS MEET PLANNED FOR COMING TWO WEEKS

Tourney For City Championship Schedule To Begin Saturday, Sept. 8

Appleton is to make a fresh start in intercity tennis soon. A. P. Jensen, physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., has conferred with the manager of the Oshkosh Tennis association, and has practically completed arrangements for a tournament between the cities of the Fox river valley. The date has not yet been set, but it is expected that before the end of the present month, the schedule will have started.

Director Jensen is also making arrangements for a local tourney, similar to the one arranged last year. At that time there were 24 entries. Paul Seallon won the meet last season, and it is expected that he will play again in this year's meet, as well as most of the other stars who participated. This play will decide the city championship, and it is planned to start the elimination games Saturday, Sept. 8.

Youthful Southpaw Is Some Marksman

Lucy, Tenn.—Uncle Sam wouldn't need to worry one particle if he had a regiment of Boyd Duncans.

For Duncan, 24-year old southpaw scattergun shot of the Winchester team, is some marksman.

Over the traps at the Birmingham (Ala.) Gun Club, he has just banged up two new records that will be hard to topple over.

Shooting at 100 targets, he broke the first 99, getting a run of 621 straight from 16 yards. Then he finished with 99 in 100 for a run of 648 out of 650.

In the Alabama state matches just the week previous, he smashed 53 in succession, ending the program with 549 out of 550.

Duncan has been shooting exceptionally well this season. He was high over all in the Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and South Carolina shoots. In the Southern Zone, he tied for the singles championship, won the preliminary and zone handicaps and the all round championship. His year's average is better than 98 per cent.

Boyd comes from a family of crack shots. His father and his brother have made names for themselves in different meets. Several years ago in Arkansas, the Duncan trio broke 495 out of 500 targets. That still stands as a family record.

Boyd, himself, has won the trap-shooting title of Tennessee three times, once as an amateur before he was old enough to vote.

He uses a Winchester ventilated rib trapgun and repeater shells with precise wadding.

Duncan now is practicing for the national and international matches at Camp Perry, O., in September.
